Madison County State's Attorney Bill Haine, who said he had seen the videotaped interview with Colwell, said Colwell had confessed.
Investigators at first suspected that Mrs. Colwell might have been killed by a burglar, according to a press photographer at the scene Thursday night.

Haine praised the work done by Capt. Kip Pomeroy and other detectives of the Granite City Police Department. Haine said the case against Colwell was "locked up tighter than a drum."

Police also recovered the apparent murder weapon, a small-caliber semi-automatic handgun.

Haine takes up mother's claims

Jailed woman fights to protect son from grandfather

By Andy Siering Staff writer

EDWARDSVILLE — A jailed Edwardsville woman, fighting to protect her son from his grand-father, remains in jail this weekend despite Madi-son County State's Attorney Bill Haine's efforts to father, remains in your constraints of the constrai assessification with research constitutions of the two seases of had ordered Cooper jailed because she refused to allow Herzing to take her son out of her house. Illinois law provides in certain instances for grandparents' visitation rights. Haine said of the allegations of sex abuse against Herzing, "We will conduct a thorough investigation to see if the mother's (Cooper's) claims are valid."

Tammara Cooper claims her father abused her son when he was about two years old, while the boy was living with Herzing in 1987-88 when she was unemployed and unable to care for the child. She asserts that her son told her and his baby-sitter that Herzing fondled the young boy's genital area.

area.

The Press-Record/Journal has obtained a copy of a report made last May, when the boy was 3 years old, by a nurse at Cardinal Glennon Children's Hospital's sex abuse unit. The report says, "The child has given history to three separate persons at this time, of sexual abuse by his grand-ather. He has been fairly consistent in his disciplent.

The report further states, "The child has demonstrated behavioral changes consistent with sexual child had not disclosed any incidents of abuse.

The DCFS investigation was ordered by Judge Duff after the boy's court-appointed guardian attorney Craig Haynes of Granite City, told her the boy had told him of sexual abuse by Herzing.

Bill Haine said he 79as not accusing anyone but said the allegations merited investigation.

Herzing had sought permanent custody of his grandson, but that was denied by Judge Duff. However, Duff ordered that, under Illinois law, Hecking was greed, but only if the visitation was conducted in her home in her presence. Duff ordered Cooper to let Herzing take the child, with the supervision of Herzing's sister. The first visitation was supposed to be last Friday, April 27.

When Cooper refused to let Herzing and his sister take the boy, Duff ordered her jailed for 60 days for contempt of cooper said, "The judge days are contempted for open said, "The judge says and the presence of the presence of the says she can't terminate the bond between a grandfather and a grandson, but I have a 3-month-old baby boy and she (Duff) doesn't mind breaking that bond for two months."

Cooper said she and her husband, Kenny Cooper, the boy's stepfather, never complained to police about the alleged sex abuse because they thought the judge would do something about it.

"She never did a thing about it," Cooper said.

The Illinois Department of Children and Family Services investigated the allegations but concluded that the evidence was insufficient to prosecute, said a spokesman for DCFS.

"This is a custody situation," said Tom Teague by phone from Springfield.

"The alleged abuser has maintained innocence (at the saileged that the allegations of sexual abuse has alleged that the purpose of harassing him."

Noting that there was no obscious expensions.

Noting that there was no physical examination made at Cardinal Glennon, Teague said, "The evidence just was not sufficient, even by our standards, and our standards are lower than those of the court."

Teague said the Madison County state's attorney would have automatically been notified of any investigation by DCFS. But fishie said no record of any such notification or investigation could be found.

"The not saying there's any abuse by anyone."
Haine said. "But.I'm moving it off the dime to a forum where it can be investigated dispassionately in the best interests of the children."
He said the investigation would automatically suspend Herzing's visitation rights until the investigation was concluded. He said the Granite City Police Department would conduct the investigation. Politic of Cooper's wanted to know how Duff could have ordered Cooper jailed. "Is this justice?" the relative asked. "What is wrong with the courts" the relative asked. "What is wrong with the courts".

The report written by the Cardinal Glennon nurse notes that Cooper accused Herzing, her father, of making "sexual advances on her while she was prepanal" and mentions other allegations made by Cooper about her father.

Efforts to contact Herzing and his attorney, Bill Walker of Granite City, were unsuccessful.

What You Don't Know Could Hurt You.

Shedding some light on a touchy subject-

Each year, more than 450,000 Americans are diagnosed with skin cancer—one of the most common forms of cancer. Studies show skin cancer is caused by repeated sun exposure, and in many cases can be prevented by taking a few simple precautions.

Fortunately, skin cancer is the easiest cancer to detect, and if found early enough, most cases can be treated successfully.

St. Elizabeth Medical Center

is offering a Free Skin Cancer Screening Saturday, May 19 from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. in Pascal Hall

New deductions reduce taxes for self-employed

By Bill Hunot Social Security Administration

Following are typical ques-ons received of the Social Secu-

Q. I have just set up my own carpentry business after having worked for someone else for the past eight years. How does a self-employed person pay the Social Security taxes due?

A. When you file your 1990 tax return it will include two schedules that you haven't had to deal with before. Self-employed people include Schedules C and SE in their tax returns to show the form their tax returns to show the computation of their Social Security tax.

As a self-employed power.

As a self-employed person you'll pay Social Security tax of 15.3 percent on net earnings in 1990. The tax is levied on a maximum of $$1,300 of earnings.

By the way, there are two new tax deductions for 1990 that could reduce your tax liability.

Q. I just began receiving Sup-plemental Security Income pay-ments, Will Social Security tell me how to use this money?

A. The government places no restrictions on how people spend Social Security or Supplemental Security Income (SSI) payments. Each recipient is free to make decisions about how his or her payments will be used. If you need advice on how to handle your money you might ask a friend or relative that you trust.

friend or relative that you trust. Of course some Social Security recipients are incapable, because of an impairment, of making decisions about their money. Social Security will appoint a representative payee for them. Send your questions about Social Security to Bill Hunot, St. Louis News Service, 1215 Fern Ridge Parkway, Suite 108, St. Louis, Mo. 63/41.

on your personal tax return.

The second deduction affects computation of Social Security self-employment taxes. A deduction of 7.65 percent will reduce net earnings from self-employment. And decreases in that figure result in lower Social Security taxes.

This deduction is allowed only for a self-employed person in fig-uring net earnings from self-em-ployment for Social Security tax purposes. It is not an income tax deduction.

could have won all of, it," Hill says.

His barbecue is known for its melt-in-the-mouth qualities.

"A lot of people make a mistake when they barbecue," he says. "When you get it almost done, they'll put saute on it and offer they'll put saute on it and burn it that way. What I do is slice it, then I put it down in my sayce in another pan. Then I put it in the oven to keep it warm and it'll come right off the bone."

and it'll come right off the bone."

Hill and Bailey cater parties and will bring their Hickory Smoke cooking to anyone's table upon request. He likes a barbecue sauce that gives "kind of a little twang." He starts with a fittle twang." He starts with a sounces honey, a couple dashes ground red pepper, a stick of margarine and a 1-pound box of brown sugar. Then come his secret ingredients.

Just as serious about cooking, but most successful in the money-raising category last year,
